EDITOR'S NOTE

"This issue marks an important milestone in the DRU Project's journey toward building disaster-resilient university communities across Europe. Inside, you'll find updates on our latest research findings, new partnerships, and upcoming training activities. As we move into the second phase of the project, collaboration and knowledge exchange remain at the heart of everything we do. We hope this newsletter keeps you informed and inspired."

PROJECT MEETING

DRU Project

Milestones Met & Momentum Building

The Disaster-Resilient Universities (DRU) Project team recently convened for a vital progress review, marking significant advancement in our mission to build a safer, more resilient academic digital ecosystem.

During the session, the team evaluated overall progress, successfully checked off key project milestones, and aligned on the next phase of platform development and resource rollout. With our core foundations firmly on track, the momentum is higher than ever.

Progress at a Glance:

Milestones: Core deliverables and foundational timelines successfully met.

Next Steps: Shifting focus to system refinement and content integration.
